CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1938

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Good news for Ohio's army of anglers, estimated to number three-quarters of a million men, women, boys and girls, was the announcement by Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woodell of the publication of a new and exclusive sportsman's map which shows the location of all principal streams, tributaries and lakes of the state. It was issued as a special supplement to subscribers to the "Ohio Conservation Bulletin," the official wild-life publication of the state division of conservation, but extra copies were printed and they will be sent to any interested Ohio angler upon request and receipt of five cents in coin or stamps to cover the cost of mailing, Commissioner Woodell said. On the reverse side of the sportsman's map is an official state highway map for convenience of the sportsman in driving to the stream or lake of his choice. There is also a brief description of Ohio's state parks, reservoirs, lakes and game preserves.

In an opinion rendered at the request of Superintendent W. G. Scarberry of the state school for the blind, Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy ruled that it is within the discretion of the state director of education and the superintendent of the state school for the blind to offer as a course of study, literary instruction in the operation of confectionery and magazine stands. The question arose as the result of a demand for specialized training in the stand merchandising field since passage by congress of a measure which permits the Ohio Commission for the Blind to establish in federal buildings stands to be operated by blind persons in order that they may become partially or totally self-supporting. Superintendent Scarberry wanted, in order to provide proper training, to construct on the school grounds a building that will house a model stand which would be open to the public and at which would be sold candy, tobacco, newspapers, magazines and light refreshments. Attorney General Duffy held that the superintendent and State Director of Education E. N. Dietrich would have authority to erect and equip such a training stand.

Director of Agriculture, Earl H. Hanesfeld presided last week at the ground-breaking ceremonies at the Ohio State fair grounds for a new $150,000 building for the junior fair which will be featured in conjunction with the 1938 state fair. The building, which will be erected on the site of the boys' tent camp, will contain stall space for 875 head of cattle, an arena flanked by seating accommodations for 1000 persons, dormitories for the youthful exhibitors, offices and showers. It is being built as a WPA project. It will be a two-story structure, of concrete, brick and steel. "We certainly need it badly," Director Hanesfeld commented. "The junior fair plays an important part in the annual Ohio State fair and the boys and girls haven't had proper accommodations for several years." He predicted another record-breaking attendance for the 1938 event.

Registrar Frank West of the state bureau of motor vehicles reported that during the first two weeks in May the bureau mailed warrants in the amount of $10,000 to twenty hospitals in Ohio in reimbursement of claims filed for services rendered indigent patients who received treatment as the result of motor vehicle accidents.

The Ohio Public Utilities commission granted the application to C. A. Parsons, who operates as a company known as Rural Gas at Mt. Vernon, to abandon gas service to rural consumers in two Knox county townships on account of the inability of Rural Gas to find a new source of supply in lieu of the exhausted wells which previously served the territory.

C. M. Kinell, Selma grain operator, thinks the wheat in this section has been damaged by the freeze some days ago. He says 50 years ago this section had such a freeze and while the wheat looked normal the yield was one of the smallest, there being but a few grains to the head.

Bids Received

McCurran Bros., Xenia, with a bid of $57,000, were apparently low bidders among 14 contractors whose bids for construction of Xenia's new city hall were tabulated by the city commission yesterday.

The commission took the bids under advisement and will not let the contract until after all are studied. The McCurran Bros' bid was $568 under that submitted as a joint bid by W. C. Hill of Cedarville and A. P. Eversland of Wilmington.

The original bids ranged upward from the McCurran figure to $82,000 while the preliminary cost estimate was $46,000, including equipment, some of them for subsidiary contracts for plumbing, heating, electrical work and an elevator, which is optional.

WPA Backs Up On Yellow Springs

Completion of the sewer system at Yellow Springs has been delayed because the WPA has rejected an application for an additional grant of $5,000 to complete the project.

The village has attempted to avoid draining into a stream in Glen Helen, and Hugh I. Birch, philanthropist, has donated a tract of ground and $5,000 to assist the project.

Now the WPA has ruled the expense of carrying the overflow to the Little Miami river is unreasonable; has held that the use of the Glen Helen stream will not be detrimental to health and has been sustained in this opinion by the state health department.

As a result the village has been refused an additional grant, has spent the money donated by Birch and lacks funds to complete the project.

Local Boy Wins 40 and 8 Honor

Montgomery West, a junior in the local high school, was recently selected by the Greene County Society of the 40 and 8, to be sent to the Boys' State.

The Boys' State is made up of 700 boys throughout Ohio, who will spend ten days in Columbus, June 18-28, in the study of and actual participation in the various branches of state government including all of the principal subdivisions.

There are 13 boys being sponsored by various groups and organizations in Greene county.

The purpose of the Boys' State is to train capable young men in the various functions of government in the hope that some of them will later have a desire to enter this form of public work. The ultimate aim, of course, is greater efficiency in the administration of public affairs.

The boys are selected mainly on the basis of a good record in scholarship and attitude in school. This is the first time that Cedarville has been represented in the Boys' State.

This is an outstanding honor and young West is to be highly commended upon being chosen by the 40 and 8 to take part in this worth while project.

THE BRIDE WETS SHIRT GAS CHAMBER

With plenty of the bravado and a hot gun "Plink" Kinsley, 20 year old fugitive who escaped from the Greene county jail some days ago after attacking a turnkey, Henry Jackson, submitted to a charge of tear gas when Highland and Greene county officers took him in charge, Tuesday.

Kinsley had been confined in the county jail for house breaking and was awaiting grand jury action when he escaped. He had escaped a year ago from the London Prison farm where he was serving a term.

Coming from southern Ohio where Sheriff Hinkel placed him under escort some weeks ago, it was certain he would return to that section and Deputies Cecil Snowbridge and Robert Chambliss of this county after investigation located Kinsley in Logan-Hollow near Letham, O. Sheriff Dunsmuth and aids from Highland county, and Sheriff Hinkel and Deputy Ralph Davis, of this county and a state highway officer, surrounded the house where a party was being held. They demanded that Kinsley surrender and he fled into a room where an aged man was sleeping. It was here the tear gas was used, the aged man coming out first and Kinsley surrendering without any trouble later.

Following his escape Kinsley stated he stole an automobile belonging to Braden Smith, Jamsstown, and landed in Highland county.

He was brought to Xenia under heavy guard and on Tuesday taken before Judge George Smith and given two sentences of fifteen years each on charges of breaking and entering, a total of 30 years. In less than twelve after his capture Kinsley was on his way to the penitentiary.

FIRE PROTECTION AT MOST ANY COST

The recent experience of what a fire department can do towards saving property during a fire at one of our local establishments should serve to impress on business men as well as citizens in general that preparedness is the best policy.

Each property owner can do much to remove first hazards but to have absolute protection is near impossible. That is the reason municipalities should give aid with additional protection against fire spreading, once it has its start.

Some of our older citizens recall well the experience the town had when the opera house block burned back in 1887. With only the hand engine available, there were no less than a dozen roofs on fire at one time that fateful night. At least three squares in the center of town were saved only by the timely arrival of the Xenia department by special Pennsylvania freight. After the smoke had cleared away and the blackened walls stood as a sentinel public sentiment crystallized and a modern steamer was purchased. It has served its purpose during the past fifty years.

Belle Center, Logan county, suffered a $70,000 fire Sunday morning nearly wiping out much of the business section. Four years ago the town had a $40,000 fire in the business section. It is well to keep all this in mind—no town or city is absolutely safe against fire.

We have our municipal water system and it has justified the investment from the fire standpoint on several occasions but it alone cannot cope with an unusual fire, such as one fanned by high wind, with adjoining property at stake. The cost of insurance makes it impossible for anything like full coverage against loss. This alone is proof that municipalities must keep fire department up-to-date to give property owners all the protection possible. A forty thousand dollar fire would pay for fire equipment many times in any town.

Waiting until the horse is stolen or a forty thousand dollar fire loss is a poor policy. Cedarville deserves more and better fire protection than what we have at present. Rules of the insurance companies and the rating bureau require additional pressure than what is possible from a water supply tank. Placing three or four lines of hose greatly reduces the pressure and does not give the second or third floor buildings, such as the opera house, church, school or college the protection necessary. The condition and amount of fire equipment has much to do with insurance rates. It is much cheaper to provide fire protection than to continue to pile up high insurance rates year after year.

It is our conclusion that village authorities as well as all citizens profit by not only our experiences of the past but what other towns have suffered recently. We need more modern fire equipment and such a report will no doubt be reflected when the inspector of the rating bureau makes his annual inspection not only of our present fire equipment but the condition of business property as fire hazards may exist.

HOW WPA IS WRECKING LARGE AND SMALL TOWNS

Yellow Springs faces a very unusual situation in the construction of a sewerage disposal plant with the aid of the New Deal WPA. The plans were approved by state officials and also by WPA officials. Rather than have the water from the plant run through Glen Helen Park, Hugh T. Birch, wealthy citizen gave the village $8,000 to take the water to the Miami river.

The village council also experienced a damage suit over right of way and a jury verdict of $1,200 had to be added to the cost of the plant and paid from village funds. Some days ago the WPA backed out of its contract with the village on the grounds the disposal plant should have been nearer the village. The sewerage plant in its present location is nearly completed. To make the change the village must raise $5,000 and this does not seem possible at this time.

Yellow Springs is not the only town in this vicinity that has had bitter experience with WPA. Last week Warren county officials, representatives of the State Board of Health and Wayneville officials held a conference as to how the sewerage problem can be completed for that village. It is said the village will need another $5,000 to meet WPA requirements.

The local board of education had anything but a pleasant experience with WPA in the erection of the Agricultural school building. Of all the dumb things that could be imagined happened with the WPA on this building. After the walls had been started some one discovered there must be a heating plant. A basement then had to be excavated. After more of the walls were up changes were made in the windows and the walls had to be torn down. A real program of waste and nothing more than what Yellow Springs and Wayneville have experienced. Locally the agricultural building cost nearly twice as much as any responsible contractor would have bid. The relief problem in most cities is due to the fact that WPA problems have wrecked most Ohio cities financially.

If men are so wicked with religion, what would they be without it.—Franklin.

A farm publication has raised the question as to whether there is anything that can justify one farmer trying to sell his neighbor a crop reduction plan, when the second farmer knows the first as a paid government agent has had the words placed in his mouth and that a pay check will follow. In other words the publication might just as well go back to the Biblical question, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

A Clark county real estate agent, one who has purchased and resold many farms in his time and one who has merely been the agent in selling farms and town property over a period of 33 years, informs us that farm land in Clark county and surrounding counties, has dropped from $25 to $35 an acre due to the crop reduction plan. This agent says he lost two sales last week where cash buyers turned down Clark county values for cheaper land in a county that would draw as much government benefit as a well improved Clark county farm. The agent says farm buyers in the future will not consider even the best land where crop allotments are low. An Indiana farmer seeking an Ohio farm turned down two Clark county farms due to the uncertainty of crop control.

The Muskingum Valley Conservatory authority is having its trouble with the water storage dams. By a combination of federal New Deal, state and counties in the district the venture is being financed. With the New Deal spending of five dollars for fifty cents worth of improvement the property assessments, in many cases almost equal the tax value of the land, this being true with farm land. There seems to be no course for protection as the courts are not bound by excessive expenditures in making decisions. Mass meetings protest the coming payments and appeal was made to Senator Vic Donahy, whose former home is in that district. The Senator says the way to cure such an evil is to refuse to pay the tax. This of course leads to a tax strike and serious consequences. Probably the Senator is perfectly aware that the New Deal is headed for more serious consequences and one more will not make much difference.

With farm crops limited, as proposed one-third for wheat next year, means less feed for hogs, cattle and sheep, all this means less income to meet taxes, insurance, upkeep of buildings, fences and ditches, how then will the average farmer be able to pay his ordinary taxes even in Greene county? Farmers in the Muskingum Valley will be called upon to pay their usual taxes and in addition assessments in amounts even greater, or double taxation on reduced income under the New Deal.

Harry Sparks, highway engineer, formerly a resident of Xenia, now a resident of Columbus, who gets credit for exposing the high cost of "hot-mix" road material used by the highway department, has been the center of a taxpayer's suit for $5,000,000 against John Jasper, head of the Ohio Highway Department. Sparks was on the state highway staff of engineers but was fired by having his place abolished when he testified that Ohio paid many times more for "hot-mix" than towns, even Columbus. Other road engineers have testified to the same. It developed that certain manufacturers of "hot-mix" with contractors control the situation and the night before contracts are to be let agree by lot or otherwise just who is to be the contractors and the price. A $12,000 secretary of the "hot-mix" organization looks after the contracts with the state and his organization "takes" the successful contractors so much a ton on all "hot-mix" sold the state. Ohio has lost millions under the Davy administration to politicians in the road contracting business. Each contractor must stand an assessment for the Democratic Executive Committee. All of which is paid by the automobile owners of the state in gas tax and license plates fees. During the trial this week we had an Asst. Attorney General raising Mr. Sparks on the witness stand in support of the grafters and highway department—Ohio's attorney defending the "hot-mix" crowd. Isn't that good Democratic management?

Tugwelltown, near Baltimore, where some $50,000,000 of Uncle Sam's money was spent to satisfy the Roosevelt idea of modern homes for the hundreds of government employees that could not be cared for in Washington, Roosevelt only has around 100,000 extra government clerks on the pay roll. When in Washington, D. C. we want to see that famous $75,000 kitchen equipment in the White House placed there after Mrs. Roosevelt presided. One lady remarked after reading a description of that famous electrical outfit that the Mrs. had not been of the air, the front page, or at home long enough since the new kitchen was installed to even brown a pie crust.

Thrilling Romance in Technicolor

All the king's men and all the king's horses couldn't keep Robin Hood from the woman he loved and no wonder when lovely Olivia de Havilland plays Maid Marion to dashing Errol Flynn's Robin Hood in "The Adventures of Robin Hood," filmed in technicolor, which will open at the deluxe Xenia theater in Xenia, Sunday, May 27.

The picture contains no end of fighting with bows and arrows, quarter stabs, pikes and broadswords and has a particularly thrilling duel between Flynn and Basil Rathbone who heads the supporting cast that includes Claude Rains, Alan Hale, Ian Hunter and Patric Knowles.

HOW A WORLD TRAVELER GETS THE NEWS

Zane Grey who has spent most of his time in far away deserts and mountains says:

"Most of my time has been spent far from the haunts of men . . . naturally I lost touch, failed to keep abreast of the times. Upon my return from the desert or the sea, I would try to remedy the lack by gluing myself with daily news. Then one day The Reader's Digest fell into my hands. Here was condensed the most important and vital thought of the day. Instead of wading through hundreds of words, I could open a Reader's Digest on an island off the coast of far-away New Zealand, and find out what was going on in the 'civilized world'."

Over 5,000 hours of reading time are required to select the material for a single issue of The Reader's Digest. Yet you pay only 25c for this monthly selection of the world's finest literature. IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for May 29

MAINTAINING PERSONAL EFFICIENCY

LESSON TEXT—D. M. 1:1-16, 18, 20; I Cor. 9:24-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. I Cor. 9:25.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How David Pleased God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Times Being.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—In Training for the Game of Life.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Liquor's Effect Upon Working Efficiency.

Personal efficiency is a subject which is receiving much attention in our day. There has never been so much accurate and usable information as we now have regarding diet, exercise, and medical care. The mind as well as the body has come in for attention and scores of books are available on the development and use of the powers of personality. Some of these are trash, but others are helpful. Business is co-operating with the school and the home in giving boys and girls the opportunity to grow up to be useful and happy members of society. The church adds its important contribution, although we must confess that it is far from what it might be by the grace and power of God.

I. A Sound Mind in a Sound Body (Dan. 1:1-16, 19, 20).

Daniel and his three Hebrew companions had been brought to Babylon as captives, and were there chosen to enter the royal school for future service at the court. Every provision was made for the students chosen for that school. Their diet, however, included not only meat which was unclean to the Jew but wine, which Daniel knew to be undesirable. It took holy boldness to ask to be excused from that which the king had prescribed, but Daniel was blessed not only with courage, but with tact and courtesy. A ten-day test of a simple diet and water proved so successful that the plan was continued. At the end of the three-year course the Hebrews were not only physically stronger, but mentally and spiritually superior.

The experience of Daniel and his brethren is not just an incident eagerly grasped at by "blue-nosed reformers" to prevent their neighbors from "enjoying" intoxicating liquor. The testimony of science, of business, of experience in all ages, proves that the use of even an amount of alcohol so small that the user does not feel its presence materially "reduces endurance, accuracy, and rapidity of muscular action of all kinds" (Cresswell). It cuts down the ability to think clearly and to react promptly to danger that it is absolutely taboo with such responsible workers as railroad engineers. It is not a stimulant, but a narcotic, which clouds the nerve centers. Dr. Edward H. Ross says, "The use of alcohol as a beverage is never justified. There is no such thing as the right use of beverage alcohol."

Such information as the above is available in publications of temperance organizations, books by various writers, and even in publications by state liquor commissions. It is published in newspapers and magazines and circulated by safety organizations and insurance companies. Yet, unbelievable as it may seem, the use of liquor is on the increase.

II. Success in Life Calls for Self-Control (I Cor. 9:24-27).

Paul delighted in illustrations taken from the athletic field. He talked of running a race, of fighting a good fight. He knew the athlete's need of keeping his body under.

The one who serves his school or athletic association in physical competition gladly surrenders his personal liberty to the guidance of the coach. He eats carefully, sleeps full nights, exercises consistently, and above all does not use alcohol in any form. Listen to the words of great athletic coaches—Yost: "I would not waste my time trying to train or develop one who uses alcohol." Stagg: "Coaches and trainers are dead against the use of alcohol, liquors, even beer."

Paul rightly points out that all these sacrifices are made by men for what is but a transient earthly crown. How much more should we do for the sake of our souls. Temperance instruction may well stress the physical and mental degradation that follows the use of alcohol, but above all let us teach boys and girls that its use has sent countless souls to eternal punishment and separation from God. We should be deeply moved by the loss of personal efficiency, but what shall we say about the loss of a soul?

Faculty of Reason
Reason is a faculty of the mind by which it distinguishes truth from falsehood, and good from evil, and which enables the possessor to deduce inferences from facts, or from propositions.—Locke.

Sharing Our Joy
For there is no Man that imparteth his joys to his Friend, but he joyeth in the misery of his Man, that imparteth his Griefs to his Friend, but he grieveeth the less.—Bacon.
